BRIEF EXPLANATION OF BASEBALL

The whole object of the game is to score runs by progressing round the bases before three men are out. A game consists of nine innings for each team. An innings terminates when three men of the batting side are out.

A strike is a ball thrown by the pitcher that passes over the home plate between the batters knees and armpits. A ball is called when a pitched ball is outside of the former described area. After three strikes the batter is out but if the pitcher throws four balls the batter walks to first base. A fair ball is one that settles or flies over fair ground i.e. inside the foul lines. Outside these lines is a foul ball which the umpire will call. A batter becomes a runner when a fair hit is made or when given a walk. A base runner is out if the ball reaches first base before him, at second, third and home plate the runner must be touched with the ball held by the fielder except when play is forced. On a catch the baserunner cannot advance from the base occupied until after the catch is made. The Commentator will explain the game as it progresses. You will find baseball easy to follow and we are sure you will enjoy the sport. The official scorer will indicate a hit or error. This is very important to the players averages but has no bearing on the result of the game. A safe hit is determined by the fact that no fielder had a reasonable chance of collecting the ball.

PITCHING DISTANCE IS 60 feet 6 inches

DISTANCES BETWEEN BASES 90 feet

WEIGHT OF THE BALL IS  $5\frac{1}{4}$  ounces and is made of yarn wound very tightly and covered with horsehide, stitched on the outside.

If the scores are level at the ninth innings the game will go into extra innings.
