

Elector

William Morgan

William edited 24 issues of the British baseball newsletter Baseball Courier between 1963 and 1967 and then went on to produce 51 issues of a second newsletter, Baseball Mercury, between 1972 and 1989, which now provides a backbone for our understanding of this period of the game's history. The focus of the latter included the history of British baseball, with one of the various features published over the years being a list of national champions back to 1890 that now serves as the basis of the official record. In addition, William has served as both Information Officer and Treasurer for governing bodies of baseball in Britain at different times.