NATIONAL FINALS.

Played at Harvey Hadden Stadium, Nottingham on 11th. September.

Everybody, from the players on the field, to the fans in the stand, can be deemed heroes of the day when they attended the B.A.E.S.F. National Finals. The weather could not have been worse, it was near to freezing, wet and windy.

The whole of the Youth final between Southglade Eagles from the Midlands and Ince Blundell Freebirds from Merseyside was played in pouring rain, but from the look of the final score, a win to Eagles 32 - 12, it seemed nobody was in a hurry to get the game over.

Notable players in the game were the Eagles centre fielder, Bill Morris, named as MVP for his five base hits, including a ground rule double in the second inning, and Eagles relief pitcher, Ken Penwarden, who was voted Best Pitcher of the Day.

All credit must go to the Freebirds, who are a fairly new team. They are sure to become a team to be reckoned with in the near future.

In the Senior final between Cobham Yankees and Hull Mets home runs were the order of the day. Five were hit in total, three by the Mets and two by Cobham.

With Randy Napier on board, Dene Ekholm started the power hitting, knocking one over the left field fence in the first inning to give the Yankees two runs. Next to go the circuit were the Mets' Neil Read and Pete Darn - all with consecutive solo jobs in the fourth inning. Barry Marshall then led off Hull's fifth with a home run over the centre field fence.

Cobham's Pete Weber completed the home run onslaught in the seventh inning with a shot into left field.

Cobham Yankees went on to win the B.A.E.S.F. Cup and the Wilkinson Sword Trophy, beating Hull Mets 10 - 3.

Editor's comment. Thanks must go to Alec and Sheila Williams and Mike Harold who were at the stadium from 9 a.m. getting everything set-up. I was present from 9 a.m. and can confirm Brian's remarks about the weather.

Intercontinental Cup

Played on the ground of the Royal Antwerp Eagles Baseball & Softball Club, 13-24 July. One of the original contestants withdrew some weeks before the tournament. This was Japan, Taiwan eagerly stepped into the vacant spot. Then Italy, Europe's strongest baseball country, notified the Belgian Baseball & Softball Federation about seven days before the starting date, that it would not be sending its team. This was a real blow, as it was too late to arrange a replacement.

The Belgian Federation decided that Italy would be requested to pay some compensation for the disruption.

Originally, with an eight team format, it had been decided that each team would play a single round robin. This produced 28 games in total. In order to get near this total with a seven club format, it was decided that a single round robin would be played, plus a single round robin among the top four from the preliminary round robin. This format would produce 27 games.

After the original round robin, four countries in the top spots were Cuba, U.S.A., Taiwan, and The Netherlands. After these four countries met in the final pool round robin, it was the case that three were tied, Cuba, U.S.A., and Taiwan. It was necessary to arrange an extra day for completion of the tournament. A draw was made which resulted in Cuba drawing a bye. Therefore U.S.A. had to play Taiwan to decide who would meet Cuba in the final.

U.S.A. beat Taiwan in this play-off, but lost to Cuba in the final.

North West American Baseball and Softball Association

The North West Baseball League was won by Liverpool Trojans. The Lancashire Cup was won by Burtonwood(U.S. Army) Braves. Crawford(formerly Skelmersdale) Tigers won the Robertson One Day Trophy.

Trojans won the Sefton Festival Trophy. Burtonwood Braves won the Mantex sponsored One Day Event.

The end of season round robin games still remain in the balance. There is still one game to be played; this will decide either the winners or may lead to a play-off being needed. Our committee has decided that this outstanding game will be the opening game of the 1984 season.

The ARTCO Trophy was not competed for, this was the third consecutive year that we have not had a competition for this trophy. We may have to think of another use for the trophy. The ARTCO Trophy was donated many years ago by a firm which has long since disappeared, and now seems to be of little significance.

Our other two trophies carry some incentive. The Robertson, in memory of Alan Robertson(Mr. Baseball); and the Lancashire Cup, once played for by the whole of Lancashire.

The reason why we have not been able to carry out our programme to a conclusion can be attributed the ever increasing encroachment into our season by soccer. We find grounds, and players, hard to come by in September.

The Trojans were our representatives in the semi-final of the National Cup, and were beaten at Croydon by Cobham Yankees 13 - 2. The score line does not reflect the actual game; I am sure that anyone at the game would agree. All the scoring taking place in the fourth and fifth innings. In the other seven innings each team went both hitless and scoreless.

Everybody on the coach from Merseyside enjoyed the trip. We were all impressed by the efforts being made by the Surrey clubs, in particular the Croydon Bluejays. Liverpool Trojans extend thanks and appreciation to Croydon for the personal service and attention rendered.

CARDIFF CORRESPONDENTS.

My item in issue No. 33 "A Visit to Cardiff" brought me a letter from Peter Smart, Secretary of the Welsh Schools Baseball Association.

Mr. Smart took exception to my describing St. Patrick's as having been a "joke" team prior to having the services of Bill Olsen as coach. Mr. Smart pointed out that St. Patrick's, as all teams do, had had their good spells and their bad spells; but that St. Patrick's had always been respected members of the South Glamorgan Schoolboys' Baseball League.

As a result of Peter Smart's letter, I now realise that my choice of words to describe the contrast between St. Patrick's immediately before Bill Olsen's arrival, and the team after his arrival, was unfortunate.

Welsh Trophies.

I have received seven foolscap sheets of information regarding the three major trophies competed for in Wales; the information has been sent to me by Ivor Beynon, President of the Welsh Baseball Union.

The information concerns the Dewar Shield, the League Championship Trophy, from 1906 to date. The W.B.U. Cup; and the League K.O. Cup. The two cups have quite a history attached to each. I have summarised the information; I have set aside the information for 1953 as there appears some confusion between the Dewar Shield and W.B.U. Cup winners. I have also ignored the Dewar Shield for 1961 as it resulted in a three way tie.

Dewar Shield - 65 outright champions. Top five clubs - Grange Albion 25; Llanrumney Youth Club 10; Penylan 9; Newport 7; Splott U.S. 6;
Longest consecutive sequence - Llanrumney Y.C. 10, 1974-83.

W.B.U. Cup - 62 winners. Top five clubs - Grange Albion 17; Penylan 13; Llanrumney Y.C. 7; Pill Harriers 5; then come three clubs each of whom gained the cup on three occasions - Grangetown, Grange Y.M.C.A. and Alexandra Old Boys.

Longest consecutive sequence - Grange Albion 6, 1946 - 51.
League Knock-out Cup. At present this is the Welsh Brewers Cup. 46 competitions.

Top five clubs - Grange Albion 13; Penylan 8; Llanrumney Y.C. 7; Pill Harriers 5; Alexandra O.B. 5.

Longest consecutive sequence - Llanrumney Y.C. 7, 1975 - 81.

These three major trophies amount to 173 competitions. The top five clubs overall are Grange Albion 55 wins; Penylan 30; Llanrumney Y.C. 24; Pill Harriers 12; there are three clubs with nine wins each - Newport, Splott U.S. and Alexandra Old Boys.

The most impressive sequence of successes must surely be Llanrumney Y.C. in the period 1974-83 - that is ten years, this club has gained 24 major trophies out of a possible 30.

Southern England Baseball Association

The highlight of the Southern season was the visit of Pittsburgh
 Young Pirates, culminating in the All Star game at Stamford Bridge on Saturday, July 23rd. With the Pirates' party was Lew Hays, found
 -er of PONY Baseball, and Leo Trich, PONY Baseball Commissioner.

One of the main reasons for the Pirates' visit was the conduct
 -ing of baseball clinics, and their manner of playing in the All Star game seemed to indicate that they were putting on a clinic for London All Stars.

Pirates scored a 9 - 0 victory. They held London All Stars to just two scratch infield hits behind the pitching of Curt Leskanic.
 London's two hits came from Randy Napier and Lee Pierce.

From the third inning, the Pirates started to get on top of Mike Ocon's pitching, starting with Norvie Miller's ground rule double.
 Miller scored Pirates' first run, being singled home by Rob Eddie.

The Pirates led by four runs going into the ninth inning, and then had a scoring outburst, with five more runs, including home runs from Kevin Walsh and Tom Snowberger.

BASEBALL AND THE OLYMPICS.

The president of Dart Transportation ushered his guest down the elevator of his three-floor East Los Angeles office building. At the bottom, in the lobby and in the adjoining meeting room hung the pennants and the souvenirs of the man's life as amateur baseball's
 No. 1 ambassador.

Rod Dedeaux is certainly that, and he is a lot of other things in addition.

He is the baseball coach of University of Southern California.
 He has held that post for 42 years, the longest period of any active coach in college sports. With 1,240 victories, he is also the most successful of all college baseball coaches. He and his Trojans have won 11 College World Series, and 28 Pacific Coast Conference titles.

Dedeaux is a six-time winner of the College Baseball Coaches Asso ciation Coach of the Year Award, he has twice won the Sporting News' Coach of the Year Award, and he is a member of the College
 Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame.

So it is fitting that this remarkable man has been named to coach the United States team in the baseball competition that will take place next summer at Dodger Stadium during the 1984 Olympic Games at Los Angeles.

The six-team demonstration tournament is baseball's most extens -ive involvement with the Olympic Games.

Philippine teams cop SEA Titles

The Philippines, both men and women, won the South East Asian softball championship. The competition was played last December at Penang, Malaysia. Runners-up to the Philippines were Indonesia in the men's competition and Singapore in the women's. Singapore, Malaysia and Thailand trailed in the men's; and Indonesia, Malaysia and Thailand followed in the women's competition. E. Panteleon (Philippines) was the men's MVP; and S. Tine of Indonesia the women's MVP.

China bests Japan in Hong Kong Tourney

Playing and winning four games on the final day, China won the 2nd Hong Kong International Invitational Women's Tournament. China defeated Japan twice in the finals, 6-4 and 4-1. Japan had previously beaten China 1-0 in their first meeting.

In round-robin play, China won all five of its games including two no-hitters by China pitcher Li Nianming over Canada and Australia. New Zealand, the defending women's world champions, finished a disappointing fifth in the tournament.

Japan, which lost four of its five round-robin games, closed strong in the finals but could not stop China's strong pitching and hitting when it counted.

Selected as the most valuable player of the tournament was Japan's pitcher Kazue Yamakoshi. The leading hitter was Hua Jie of China.

Women's tourney set for Los Angeles

The eight top ranked women's teams in the world will be invited to the ISF's International Cup championship in Los Angeles, July 17-20, 1984.

The ISF will invite the top four finishers from the 1982 Women's World Championship that was held in Taipei in which 23 countries participated.

In addition four other top ranked teams from Asia, North-South America and Europe will be invited to round out the field. Women's softball popularity is growing rapidly in all parts of the world, making it a strong contender for Olympic recognition.

PASO supports Olympic softball

The Pan American Sports Organization (PASO), meeting in Caracas, Venezuela during the IX Pan American Games, announced its support to include softball on the program of the Olympic Games.

Meliton Sanchez, president of the Panama Olympic Committee and vice president of the ISF, proposed a resolution to the PASO Congress, which was seconded by U.S. Olympic Committee delegate Eric Dennis, to support the inclusion of softball on the program of the Olympic Games. The resolution was passed unanimously by the PASO body.

The ISF has been lobbying with IOC officials and officials of the Organizing Committee for the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul to include women's softball as a demonstration sport. The ISF also is working to have softball on the program of the 1986 Asian Games which will also be held in Seoul.

ASIA-ASA

Asian softball associations were to meet on October 27-29 in Manila. High on the list of agenda items were participation of softball in the 1986 Asian Games, and 1988 Olympic Games.

Ho Ming-Chang, ISF Vice President for Asia, said, "It is important that all associations in Asia work together to support softball's inclusion in the programme of the Asian and Olympic Games which will be held in Seoul". He continued, "Softball's growth has been phenomenal, to where it is played in a majority of countries in Asia.

Bert Landero, general secretary of ASA-ASIA, said, "A number of countries in Asia are developing softball within the school and physical education systems and that will help the sport further develop as a recreational and competitive sport"

Landero also said that Pakistan and Thailand had reactivated their softball organizations because of the interest and popularity of the game in those countries. India has also had a resurgence of interest.

Canada wins

CARACAS, Venezuela—Canada, backed by strong hitting and good defense, took gold medal honors in both the men and women's competition during the IX Pan American Games, August 15-26.

Canada defeated round-robin winners USA in both the men and women's finals, the men downing the U.S. 11-5 and the women, 5-4. The U.S. squads had defeated the Canadians in the semi-finals of the playoffs, 11-9, in the men and 7-1 in the women's competition.

Canada was 8-1 in the round-robin play the same as the U.S. men. In women's round-robin play, the U.S. was 9-1 while Canada was 8-3 including one tie-breaker win over Puerto Rico. Winning bronze medal honors were Panama in the men and Belize in the women. Panama had beaten the Venezuelan men in the semi-finals 5-3 advancing to meet Canada who defeated them, setting up the show down with the U.S.

In the women's semi-finals, Belize downed Puerto Rico 4-2 to advance against Canada who had been beaten by the U.S. in the other semi-final game, 7-1. Canada disposed of Belize, 1-0, and then met the United States for the gold. Canada's men had taken gold medal honors in 1979 at San Juan but the women had finished fourth.

Ten teams were entered in the men's competition including Canada, USA, Panama, Venezuela, Dominican Republic, Cuba, Antilles, Argentina, Bahamas and the Virgin Islands. In the women's play six teams were entered including Canada, USA, Belize, Venezuela, Puerto Rico and Netherland Antilles.
